Fiction has long been an unsung part of Verso’s list and heritage.

We’ve published some excellent writers over the decades, from John Berger to Marianne Fritz. You’d often find a gem of a novel buried in the back of a catalogue, among the new editions, if you found it at all. But in recent years we’ve found ourselves being drawn again and again to contemporary novelists; writers we couldn’t not publish and, many of whom – like Vigdis Hjorth and Jenny Hval – we want to publish for a long time to come. Publishing a mixture of English language and translated fiction, we want to publish bold, intelligent writing that’s politically astute, but not dogmatic or charmless. This dedicated section of our catalogue is designed as a home for these intelligent and inventive voices, a place where they can get a little more daylight than they might have done previously.
